Statement of Significance

Last updated on - April 15, 2005

One of the more prominent Anglican Churches of the 1850s, the first part of 1859-60 to the design of Nathaniel Billing, although this was never completed, and the vestry of 1965 is excluded. The church is in the Early English

Gothic style, and distinguished by the use of Bacchus Marsh freestone dressings on a body of squared snecked bluestone rubble.
