Statement of Significance

Last updated on - May 14, 2004

A two-manual organ of 22 speaking stops built in 1922 by George Fincham & Sons, retaining its tubular-pneumatic action, attached drawstop console and generous tonal scheme which included four reed stops. The instrument is among the most substantial of its period to remain intact and is comparable with similar Fincham instruments at St John's Church, Clifton Hill and St Patrick's Cathedral, Ballarat.
