Statement of Significance

Last updated on - January 3, 2008

The Masonic Hall was erected in 1873-74 and at that time consisted of Lodge Rooms and public tavern on the ground floor with a large concert hall above. Additions were made to the building in 1889-90 and the Hall was converted into a theatre. The architects were Vahland and Getzschmann, the contractor was J Cowper. The two storey brick structure has a rendered facade composed of a giant corinthian portico with flanking single bay wings.

The Masonic Lodge has been established in Bendigo since 1854 and has played an important role in the growth and development of the city. The present Hall is a fine early work of the architects Vahland and Getzschmann.

The grandness of the facade with its allusions to Rome is unsurpassed in a building of this type. The detailing, particularly in the design of the ground and first floor windows, is most significant. The Hall is an outstanding feature of View Street and of this historic city.

It appears that the building requires an intense programme of maintenance and repair.
