Statement of Significance

Last updated on - November 22, 2007

A group of three single storey offices which link up well and are in scale with the adjacent Royal Chambers. Completed in 1894 for the Temperance Society the rendered masonry walls have elaborate mouldings in the round arched and semi-elliptical openings to the doors and windows. No. 97 is the Temperance Hall; the facade of No.101 has had various unsympathetic alterations.
