Statement of Significance

Last updated on - July 3, 2006

An eclectic design combining Romanesque and Gothic elements in a striking manner, this brick church of four bays, with apse and cement detailing, was built in 1904 to the design of H W & F B Tompkins. It is virtually identical to their design for St Andrew's, Sunbury, built in the same year. The main facade embraces a three-light window placed beneath an ogee arch and flanked by a later brick tower and slate-roofed spire with prominent eaves; there is an incongruous modern extension and porch at the front which are excluded.
