Statement of Significance

Last updated on - June 4, 2004

Particularly old
Outstanding size

This huge tree is on a small side track from Ellery Camp, clearly signposted. It is estimated to be some 300 years old and possibly the largest of its species in Victoria. Mountain Grey Gum, is a straight, smooth barked forest tree and often seen around 20 to 40 metres tall. But in moist protected gullies it can reach great greater heights. The species tends to grow in wet sclerophyll forest, at mid-altitude
