Statement of Significance

Last updated on - June 7, 2004

Rare or localised

Outstanding example of species

An isolated specimen which has developed a wide, dense and symmetrical crown. Its location has enabled retention of its lower crown, often not the case in forest situations. The tree has two main leaders with slight compression between the stems. An attractive tree growing in association with the rare Yellow Elderberry.(Sambucus australasica)

This tree is located in Marshmead, north of Harrisons Creek, near the entrance drive, along the drive to Forest Walk.
