Outstanding Size:

A tree outstanding for its large height, trunk circumference or canopy spread

Outstanding Example of Species:

A tree that is an outstanding example of its species.

A large and attractive example of this tree, a species not widely cultivated in Victoria. The tree has five main trunks with a large rounded canopy dominating the garden of this property. This tree is larger than the specimen at Wombat Hill Botanical Gardens. Known locally as the Mueller Tree, it is believed that Baron von Mueller provided the seeds to the original owners early this century. Because of the included bark in the branch unions, some light cabling may be required in the future.

This tree is located in the read garden.
