Statement of Significance

Last updated on - June 16, 2008

Rare or localised

A row of three mature trees growing along the original southern boundary of the cemetery. The trees have the characteristic growth form with open crown, wind-swept branches, and the upper branches with the attractive pink/orange peeling bark. The species, native to Europe and Asia is rarely cultivated in Victoria with the only other known mature trees occurring at Taradale and Camberwell.
