VHR history

The schooner Nil Desperandum was on a voyage from Belfast (Port Fairy) to Sydney with a cargo of potatoes. The vessel was last sighted by Captain Harless of the brig Tower Hill when abreast of the Glennies in a SSE gale. He saw the schooner a mile to windward heading north east. The Nil Desperandum was not seen again and it was conjectured that the vessel must have struck the Glennies and gone down with all hands. Despite searches by the government steamer Pharos and the GSNC's steamer Murray, no trace of the vessel was found.
